

Committee for Linguistics in Education

21 Sept 1982

Dear

Richard Coates

Many thanks for your reply to the CLIE ad in the BAAL and LAGB mailings of June/July.

I hope you will understand that I cannot reply personally to each of you who has kindly offered to co-operate in this initiative. We have so far got about a dozen names to add to those already contacted informally by CLIE members.

Many of the replies contained information about regional and national initiatives that could be of interest to others. I wonder if CLIE could do a useful chore in spreading the word around, under the general heading of Linguistics in Education.

The response for the teachers' register has been disappointing. I have made some contacts with individual teachers at conferences etc., but these don't add up to much. We need some more effective means of contacting those teachers who are interested in linguistics and want to develop that interest.

Any ideas ?

Yours sincerely

Mike Riddle
